Teaching about road safety

Young drivers are over-represented in car crashes.

Speeding, drink driving, fatigue and not wearing a seatbelt are major factors contributing to death and serious injury of young people on our roads. Many young drivers are also likely to drive an older vehicle which increases the severity of a crash if it occurs.

Teaching about road safety as part of PDHPE and student wellbeing programs helps contribute to the reduction of fatality and injury rates of young people by promoting safe behaviours as pedestrians, passengers, riders and novice drivers.

To support bstreetsmart Transport for NSW has developed some teaching and learning activities in collaboration with the NSW education sectors. You can find them on Transport's On the Move website for secondary teachers.
